PEOPLE CAN'T VOTE ON FEDERAL AMENDMENTS

Up To Legislatures Alone, Is Supreme Court's Ruling.

Washington, June 1.—The Supreme Court in an unanimous opinion today held that federal constitutional amendments can not be submitted to popular vote for ratification by states having referendum provisions in their constitutions.

The method of ratifying amendments, the court held, is a national power specifically granted by the federal constitution, and the states have no authority to provide otherwise. In so holding the court declared inoperative provisions of the Ohio state constitution authorizing submission of federal amendments to a referendum for ratification, and overturned state Supreme Court decrees dismissing injunction proceedings brought by George S. Hake, Cincinnati attorney in a taxpayers' suit to enjoin submission of the prohibition and woman's suffrage amendments to a referendum vote.

Next to the cases involving the validity of the prohibition amendment and the enforcement, the Ohio referendum cases were considered the most important before the Supreme Court. Had the court ruled otherwise the decision would have most likely resulted, according to court officials, in the reopening of the suffrage question in approximately a dozen states and the filing of petitions for a referendum vote. With thirty-five states, one less than the constitutional three-fourths, having already ratified the suffrage amendment, an opposite decision would unquestionably have banished all hopes of ratification prior to the November elections.

The decision, however, does not affect the pending prohibition cases, as none involved that question except indirectly. In view of the fact that forty-five of the forty-eight states already have ratified the liquor amendment, attorneys in recently arguing those cases before the Supreme Court conceded that even if the court held that the prohibition amendment could be submitted to the voters, enough states without referendum provisions in their constitutions would remain to provide the required three-fourths.

The court's opinion, however, puts an end to any controversy as to whether Ohio has ratified both amendments and puts Ohio definitely in the list of states approving each of the amendments.

Power to ratify a federal amendment, according to the court's opinion, which was rendered by Associate Justice Day, is derived from the federal constitution and a state has no authority to designate the means of ratification. The language of the constitution, the opinion said, is plainly relative to ratification and "admits of no doubt in its interpretation."

Justice Day said that, by requiring ratification to be by the "legislature," the framers of the constitution meant the recognized legislative body in each state. He characterized as "fallacious" arguments that it was the intent that ratification should be by the "legislative action of the states through the medium provided at the time of the proposed approval of an amendment."

Ratification of an amendment, the court held, is not a legislative act and any other construction might result in endless confusion.

SENATE DEFEATS WILSON FOR ARMENIA MANDATE

Washington, June 1.—By an overwhelming vote the Senate late today passed and sent to the House the resolution declining to grant President Wilson's request that Congress authorize a mandate over Armenia.

The vote was 52 to 23.

By a vote of 43 to 34 the Senate previously rejected a plan to Democratic leaders to delay congressional action on the proposed Armenian mandate until after a peace settlement had been effected with the Central Powers.

The vote was on a motion by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, to recommit the resolution denying authorization of the mandate, with instructions "to report it after ratification of a peace treaty with the Central Powers."

In order to put the Democrats on record Senator Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut, moved to amend the resolution so as to authorize a mandate. The motion got the support of 12 Senators, all of them Democrats. The vote against it was 62.

Senators Reed, Missouri; Shields, Tennessee; Thomas, Colorado, and Williams, Mississippi, Democrats, voted with the solid Republican line against the motion.

The Senate also voted down, 41 to 34, an amendment by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, to authorize creation of an international commission to supervise Armenian economic rehabilitation.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION BIDS ARE REJECTED

The bids received by the Fiscal Court last Friday, for the construction of 2.6 miles of State-aid road, adjacent to and beyond Beda, were all rejected, due to the fact that they were thought to be excessive. Only three bids were received, ranging in sums from approximately $34,000 to $50,000. The improvement is to be made by forces under direction of the court and by such supervision as the State may furnish.

COUNTY COURT IN SPECIAL SESSION

Quite a Number Given Fines On Minor Charges

County Court was in special session Monday, transacting a good day's work. Owen Wade, Irvin Farmer, Robert Burdett, Hubert Ralph, Marvin Ralph, Claud Evans, Russell Mattingly and Lawrence Edge, all young men of the Magna country, were tried on the charge of disturbing public worship, and with the exception of the first three named, who were acquitted, all were fined in the sum of $20.00 each, with the cost.

Alva and Claud Evans, who were in Court under a grand larceny charge, (theft of money) were discharged after a hearing by the Court.

The charge of assault, under which Ellis and Drucilla Bush were before the Court was reduced to that of breach of the peace, when each pleaded guilty and were fined $5.00.

FISCAL COURT IN ONE DAY SESSION

The Ohio County Fiscal Court was in session Wednesday, passing upon claims and attending to various other matters pertaining to highways, etc. County Judge Mack Cook was presiding with the following Justices present: B. C. Rhoads, B. F. Rice, W. S. Dean, W. C. Daugherty, Q. B. Brown, George W. Rowe, and Ed Shown, with W. C. Blenkinship doing the clerical work. County Attorney A. D. Kirk was also present.

The Court appointed Rowan Holbrook, S. T. Barnett and F. M. Hoover as commissioners to have charge of the preliminaries and arrangements with reference to beginning the construction of the Hartford-Owensboro State Aid road. Work will commence upon that road at an early date.

Squire Sam L. Stevens who has been ill for a considerable time, was not able to attend the session.

TWO COUPLES MARRY AT THE COURT HOUSE

Miss Pearl Paxton and Mr. Boyd Baugh, popular young people of Beaver Dam, and Miss Martha Salling and Mr. Russell Jones, young people in high esteem, of Echols, were married at the Court House, Saturday, Judge Mack Cook performing the ceremony.

BARBERS ON STRIKE

New York, June 1.—Ninety minutes for dinner was one of the demands of the Brooklyn and Queens Borough barbers, who laid aside their razors and shears when the boss barbers refused today to accede to the employees' strike.

John Tartimello, organizer of the Independent Journeymen Barbers' Union of Brooklyn, asserted tonight that 1,000 journeymen knights of the razor had walked out.

Among the demands of the striking barbers were $35 a week and a 50-50 split with their employers of all they earn for the shops over $45 a week.

MAN IS JAILED ON CHARGE OF INCEST

Daughter And Son Make Affidavit
On Which Warrant Issues
For Father

John Stites, of Herbert, was arrested and placed in jail Monday, upon a warrant charging him with incest. The warrant was issued by Squire B. F. Rice, of Fordsville. When the defendant was brought before Squire Rice he waived his examining trial and upon failure to execute bond, which the Court fixed at $750.00, he was remanded to jail, to await action of the Grand Jury.

The affidavit upon the strength of which warrant issued was made by the daughter of the defendant, Pearl Stites, who is under the age of 16 years, one of her brothers also signed the affidavit charging her father with the crime.

Stites is said to be an industrious man, intelligent and to possess considerable property, owning perhaps 200 acres of very good farm land.

SCHOOLS TO VOTE ON CONSOLIDATION

Transportation Of Pupils Goes With Approval—Three Districts Are Affected.

Graham, Oak Grove and Cromwell common school districts will vote on a proposition of consolidation, June 26th. Should the proposition be approved it will carry with it a clause that provides for the transportation of those pupils residing most distant from the school building, those not within a convenient distance.

Should the three districts vote for the proposition a splendid school should be the result. A large number of pupils would be within the consolidated district, upon which public money would be drawn. The school could, and would be so organized that it would virtually amount to a graded school. Much better results to the pupils is always noticeable when one teacher is not forced to cover or handle all of the various branches and grades necessary to be taught in our common schools. As a general proposition, no teacher, who is especially strong in the primary department, is as good higher up in the grades, and the same rule applies when reversed. There is no calling or profession in life where one may meet with notable success, except he or she be in love with their work, and it is inconceivable that any man or woman could like equally well the first, fifth, eighth or higher grade work.

If general conditions governing the proposed consolidation of these three districts appear practicable, the people affected have an opportunity to secure for themselves a common school that ought to prove to be as good as the best in the country, and their actions and the results of same will be watched with interest by the remainder of the County.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF WHEAT ENDS

Washington, June 1.—Federal control of wheat and wheat products ended today, the Wheat Director ceasing to function under the limitation of the law creating his office and the Food Administration control ending by proclamation of President Wilson.

This means the passing of the Government guarantee of $2.20 a bushel for wheat established during the war as means of stimulating production. Some existing contracts remain to be carried out by the United States Grain Corporation which has been the instrumentality of the Government in handling wheat. As soon as these contracts have been executed the corporation will wind up its affairs and turn over its finances to the Treasury Department.

Licensing of dealers in wheat and wheat products has been in the hands of the Wheat Director and the Food Administration, and this automatically ended today. Dealers, except those having contracts at fixed figures, are now free to buy and sell at such prices as the law of supply and demand and other conditions may bring about.

Officials of the Grain Corporation said the corporation had operated at a slight profit, but that the exact figures would not be known until the corporation had wound up its affairs.

SINN FEINERS MAKE COUPS OF AUDACITY

London, June 1.—Coups of amazing audacity and remarkable success were carried out in various parts of County Cork today by Sinn Feiners. Fifty undisguised men affected a bloodless capture of an armed guard of twenty-five English soldiers protecting the lawyers' headquarters at New Market, in the northwestern part of the county, shortly after the courthouse of the town had been leveled by incendiary flames.

The raiders surprised the army sentry at the door, who promptly obeyed their "hands up" order. They relieved him of his rifle and ammunition and then swarmed into the guard room, where they covered the more than two dozen soldiers with revolvers, searched the building thoroughly, held up civilian officials, took a Lewis gun and a machine gun and put both in position for use. Ammunition and the whole equipment of the guard then were taken and removed in automobiles, which were "commandeered." The raiders' parting order to the soldiers was "keep still for ten minutes or you'll be shot, the whole gang of you."

EVANS' INCOME TAX SUIT WON

Supreme Court Rules Salaries Of Federal Judges And President Exempt.

Washington, June 1.—Provisions of the war revenue act requiring the President and all federal judges to pay an income tax on their salaries were declared unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court in a 7 to 2 decision.

Under the act the President paid on his salary of $75,000 a year, approximately $16,000 in taxes. Revenues already collected under the Court's decision are to be refunded by the treasury.

The Supreme Court's decision was on appeals by Federal District Judge Walter Evans, of Louisville, Ky., from lower court decrees dismissing a suit brought by him to recover taxes involuntarily paid. He contended that the federal constitution prohibited judges' salaries being diminished during continuance in office.

Justice Van de Venter, who rendered the majority opinion, held that the section of the revenue act violating constitutional provisions prohibiting the diminution of such salaries. Such a tax, he argued, could be gradually increased until the entire salary was taken. The majority opinion held, however, that a federal judge was not exempt from tax on his private income or on his property.

Justice Holmes rendered a dissenting opinion in which Justice Brandeis concurred.

He declared that no reason existed why Federal Judges should be exempt from the income tax.

MRS. C. O. HUNTER TO ENTERTAIN TODAY

In honor of her guest, Mrs. W. C. Overhults, of Cedar Edge, Colo., Mrs. C. O. Hunter will entertain at her home on Union Street, this afternoon in addition to the Ladies' Social Club the following guests will be present: Mesdames M. H. Murphree, Owensboro; C. R. Bennett, McHenry; E. G. Schroeder, John Lindley, City; Misses Mary Marks and Irene Glenn, the latter of Calhoun.

Progressive rock and other games will be enjoyed by those present.

RICH IMMIGRANTS COMING

Contrary to expectations there are more immigrants coming to this country than leaving it. During one week the arrivals numbered 13,000 while the departures were but 400. Strangest of all, some immigrants, especially from South America, are bringing with them large rolls of money. When asked to deposit their money for safe keeping one couple handed over $114,000 and much fine jewelry. A Spanish woman had nothing smaller than a $11,000 check. One family laid down so much money that the officials did not have time to count it; it was estimated at $300,000.

DEBS IN PRISONER'S GARB ACCEPTS HONOR

Socialist Nominee In Atlanta Prison Delivers Speech

Atlanta Ga., May 29.—Eugene V. Debs accepted today the Socialist nomination for President of the United States, formally tendered him by a committee from his party. The ceremony took place inside the Atlanta federal penitentiary, where Debs is serving a ten-year term on conviction of violating the espionage act, and the nominee was clad in the blue denim garb of a prisoner. For once, however, prison rules were somewhat relaxed; speeches were made, moving picture men cranked their machines, and a half dozen newspaper men jotted down notes on what was said.

There were some fifteen persons present at the meeting, which was in a spacious room on the ground floor, only the barred windows that broke the view of a beautiful lawn giving a prison background.

Stedman Heads Committee.

The five members of the notification committee, headed by Seymour Stedman, of Chicago, Socialist candidate for Vice President; half a dozen newspaper and camera men, and Joseph Caldwell, of Rhode Island, a member of the communist party, who is serving a term at the penitentiary, made up the party, in addition to guards.

Under prison rules Debs could not issue a statement, but he made a brief speech, in which he thanked the party for the honor again conferred upon him and expressed his regret that he could do so little personally in the campaign. The Socialist platform adopted recently in New York, Debs said, "attests the essential principles of Socialism," but he added that he wished it "could have been couched in a form to make an appeal more effective to the working classes; that it brought out stronger the appeal of class; that it emphasized the need of industrial organization."

"I have never been afraid of being too radical," Debs told his audience, "but I have of not being radical enough." He urged that members of the party express their views "without fear of consequences."

In another part of his speech he declared his sympathy for the Russian revolution, which he termed "the greatest achievement of all times," and continued, "I regret that the convention did not allow allegiance to the Third Internationale without any qualification whatever."

After the notification a brief conference between the nominee and members of his party was held.

A Debs rally will be held here Sunday afternoon, at which it is planned for some of the members of the committee to make addresses.

SINGING CONVENTION AT CENTRAL GROVE

The Singing Convention composed of the Southern portion of the County, met with Central Grove, last Sunday, in one of the most successful meetings held by the district. The convention was called to order and after invocation several talks were made, when each choir present rendered two songs, after which the Convention recessed.

In the afternoon the choirs were called together for the election of officers, which resulted in the election of J. F. Duke, as chairman and L. B. Loney, secretary. Rev. M. G. Snell addressed the Convention, after which, as a special feature, several male quartets entertained the gathering, and the choirs rendered four songs each.

The following choirs were present: Central Grove, Williams Mines, Midway, Independence, Oak Grove, Liberty, Mt. Hermon and Central and Oak Grove Juveniles.

William's Mines was selected as the next place of meeting and the fifth Sunday in August as the date.

FARMERS ASSISTED BY G. O. P. SOLONS

Stop Much Discrimination Against And Hit At Profiteers

Washington, May, 31—Repeal of the daylight savings law is not the least of the benefits conferred upon the farmers of the country by the Republican Congress which is about to recess for the summer.

It is true that the law shifted an unnatural burden which President Wilson had insisted should be permanently imposed upon those who till the soil and insisted upon it by discriminating in favor of the cities. By demanding that the clocks be set back an hour in time of peace in order to assist the manufacturer and store proprietor he defied the rights of the country dweller. He vetoed the resolution for the repeal of the law enacted for the war and the Republicans passed it over his veto. The result is that the farmer today regulates his hours by standard time and does not have to do all of his work in the extreme heat of the day, or arise in summer when it is yet dark.

But other measures have commended themselves to the remembrance of the farming communities of the Northern and border sections of the country. Immediately upon attaining power, a year and more ago, the Republicans completely eradicated the domination of the Southern Democracy and the caucus rule by which the South had during the war been enabled to discriminate in favor of cotton and against wheat by leaving the former to go as high as it could and imposing a limit upon the price of the Northern staple. Congress took away the power to discriminate in favor of the South through the richest war contracts and the largest camps and plants. It restored an equitable distribution of means of agricultural development.

Herbert Hoover had said that wheat would go up to seven dollars a bushel if no restrictions were placed upon its natural market condition. The farmers were somewhat expectant. But the cotton growers said that was too much for his bread material. So they got their representatives to reduce it from the $2.80, which it was then demanding per bushel, down to $2.20 per bushel. The United States Grain Corporation kept it there until it was permitted to go to $2.26. But cotton, having no such restriction, went right on soaring. The result was vastly higher clothing cost to the Northern farmer. When the Republicans took control of Congress they raised the wheat price to $2.40 per bushel and left cotton to fall to a natural level.

Favor or discrimination and unnaturalness of economic condition had become a habit with the President. Armed with his extensive war powers, he was opposed to using it for the lessening of popular burdens, especially if urged to do so by Republican of Congress. Thus he was directed by the Republican Congress to purchase the Cuban sugar crop. This could have been done at 9 cents per pound. But he obdurately turned down the suggestion, with the result that sugar went on up to 28 cents and now to as high as 40 cents to the consumer. To make the discomfort of the people of the country complete, he permitted the Louisiana planters, they being situated in the south, to charge as much as 17 and 18 cents per pound; that is, he permitted the Attorney General to tell them he would not prosecute them if they did charge that much. Europe then bought the Cuban crop for 7 cents per pound and the Louisiana planters charged what they pleased.

When the Republicans came into ascendancy in Congress they found on the statute books a law regulating the operation of stockyards. But nobody paid any attention to it because it had no teeth in it. So the House Committee on Agriculture brought in a bill turning the regulation of stockyards over to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The sale of feed, yardage, trades and commissions was made subject to its jurisdiction. Manipulation, split payments between the five big packers, and all that sort of thing were forbidden. In other words, monopolization of the packing industry was made dangerous by extreme and explicit penalties.

In the Clayton anti-trust act, named after Representative Clayton, who hailed from the South, it had been stipulated that collective bargaining should not be denied to laboring men and to farmers. The same law provided that no injunction or restraining order should be issued in any dispute between employer and employee. This left the Northern farmer unable to do what union labor might do. So the Republican Congress, when it came into power, set about to fix it in this law so that farmers might also collectively bargain—that is, jointly agree to market their produce as they choose.

At the same time fraudulent and other profiteering was gotten after by the committees on agriculture and reported to the House and Senate. Various devices for adding to the wrappings of bacon and ham sold to the farmers and other consumers were done away with and a net weight was fixed upon the meat itself. This now means a full weight for such food to the consumer. Slack packages, which were allowed to contain, but one-third in food contents and the remainder of the space to go empty, were stopped by law. Spices, potato chips, and similar products were put up in this way. Thus a box holding eight ounces of this stuff was permitted to hold only two ounces. Then, too, many profiteer manufacturers had a gentle habit of putting on the market liquid products for the table, such as oils and extracts, in concave bottles. On the shelf in the grocery they seemed of goodly size and the price did not appear so high. But upon closer examination it was seen that the bottle was so shaped as to give little room for contents.

This practice led to much unfair competition. The honest producer was confronted with a method of getting business practiced by the profiteer. The perpetrators were haled before the House Committee on Agriculture and shown up. Candy manufacturers were hardest hit. Boxes were shown to be arranged with false bottoms and then the entire weight of the candy placed on the outside in such small figures that the purchaser would not see he was getting a half pound instead of the pound he appeared to be getting. The testimony indicated that the practice had been allowed to grow up during the war period and that no attempt had been made to stop it. The Republicans stepped in and ended the practice by stringent legislation.

In the first year of their assumption of power the Republicans also placed upon the statute books the authority to get after profiteers under which the clothing manufacturers have been attacked for excessive and exorbitant prices. They sought to make it possible for the farmer to work out his salvation in the easiest way possible. They found that the cold storage warehouses of the country were burdened with supplies and in many instances filled to capacity. There was no agency for forcing this food on the market, and as a result there was little difficulty in maintaining prices, provided the huge stock could be withheld from regular channels, consequently, a law was enacted providing that any article of food placed in cold storage should have marked upon it the fact that it is cold storage food, the date when put in and when taken out of cold storage, and the names and location of all warehouses in which stored. Unsanitary refrigerator conditions were forbidden. That this law should have an immediate effect is evidenced by the fact that at the beginning of the last fiscal year there were in cold storage in the United States 1,074,808,000 pounds of pork products, 162,000,000 pounds of frozen beef, 48,000,000 pounds of poultry, 87,000,000 pounds of butter and 7,000,000 cases of eggs.

The President has had the power to stop profiteering. Much of it he has had through the Attorney General. Neither have he stirred themselves so as to attract notice to the fact.

Cut This Out And Take It With You

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

CONGRESS POSSESS SOLE MARITIME POWER

In 1917 congress passed a law giving the states authority to pass legislation for the benefit of persons employed on the water. The supreme court holds that this law is unconstitutional, as congress alone has authority to deal with matters relating to the sea, and it has no power to delegate its authority to the states. Recently the court held the La Follette seamen's act valid. A British concern sought to have the act declared void, on the ground that our government had no right to legislate over the ships and sailors of other countries. The court held that when foreign ships touch at our ports, congress gains jurisdiction.

What's become of the prejudice against automobiles because they frightened the horses

NOW cars are everywhere. The horses have gotten used to them—and so has everybody else. Think of it! This year the American people will spend nearly a billion dollars on tires alone.

Tires are one of the biggest items on the car owner's bills.

Hardly a Saturday, when you motorists drop in to "tune up" for a Sunday trip, that one or more of you doesn't tell us something of value to our business. Sooner or later it comes back to you in Service.

Service is what the car owners of this community are looking for nowadays.

And especially the small car owners, who put service first in figuring their motorizing expenditures.

Just because a man has a moderate-price car is no reason why he should get any less service out of his tires.

We believe that the man with the small car is entitled to just as good tire service as the man with the big car—and both are entitled to the best tire service they can get.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

And why more car owners—large and small—are coming to us every day for U. S. Tires.

Come in and talk to us about tires. We're here to help you get the kind of tires you want.

STATE IS SAFE ON FEDERAL AID FUND

Highway Engineer Says No Chance To Lose Any Money

Frankfort, Ky., May 28.—"There is not a chance of Kentucky losing any of its Federal aid money, which must be 'tied up' by June 30," Mack Guilbreath, United States senior highway engineer and representative of the Bureau of Public Roads in Kentucky, said today. "If the contracts let to-day had not gone through there is sufficient work laid out, on which project agreements could be signed up, to take care of what is necessary." "On account of the existing dual system in Kentucky, the State department has been delayed in getting appropriated and set apart by Fiscal Courts, but the department has gone ahead with its own work and has everything in readiness." "There is a month yet in which to get the project agreements signed, and two weeks would be sufficient. All these matters are not of record

In Washington, to which they are sent from the Chicago office, but we in touch with the situation know there is no danger."

Road Commissioner Joe S. Boggs has written Congressman J. M. Robison, setting forth in detail the Federal aid projects already passed on in Washington or in the Chicago office for transportation and said:

"There has appeared in many newspapers in Kentucky an item from Washington that Kentucky will lose by June 30, $736,928 in Federal aid money unless a bill now pending, extending the time for one year, is passed by both branches of Congress. In view of the fact that such articles are misleading to the people of Kentucky and create unjust criticism of this office, I am taking the liberty to acquaint you with the facts in this matter, as I have heretofore done."

Best Remedy for Stomach Trouble.

"I am pleased to have the opportunity to say a good word for Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. Mamie Bertel, of Moberly, Mo. "I think they are the best remedy for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation I have ever used. I have taken them off and on for two or three years and they always relieve indigestion, tone up the liver and make me feel fine."

ROADS ASKING RATE BOOST PRESENT CASE

Washington, May 28.—Railroads of the country today closed their eyes before the Interstate Commerce Commission for increased freight rates aggregating $1,917,000,000 annually. Further hearings are suspended by the commission until June 7, to give shippers and state railway commissioners time to prepare for cross-examination of witnesses for the carriers.

During the hearings, which began Monday, testimony was introduced by the railroads to show that increased income is needed immediately if the roads are to handle the nation's commerce satisfactorily for otherwise government ownership is inevitable. Relief can come in the form of increased rates or out of the treasury of the United States, the carriers claimed. Only the roads that are strongest financially can borrow money, it was stated, and then only at high rates of interest.

Efficient management and ultimate saving in operating expenses was promised by the carriers. Saving can not begin at once, they asserted, because the roads were not returned to the owners in the same condition in which they were when taken over by the government. Additional freight and passenger service necessitating immediate expenditures and unsolved labor problems also a delaying economics. Rate increases asked do not include the wage demands of the employees under consideration by the railroad labor board, estimated at $1,000,000,000.

WORLD'S DEEPEST WELLS

The two deepest wells in the world were dug by a Pittsburg natural gas company in West Virginia. The first reached a depth of 7336 feet when the cable broke. The tools could not be drawn out and the well was abandoned. The second well was carried to a depth of 7,579 feet when the tools got stuck. At 7000 feet a temperature of 172 degrees Fahrenheit was found. The depth of wells is not regulated by law. Little to the surface of the ground unless otherwise provided is supposed to extend in to the center of the earth, where it would terminate in a point.

W. W. BIG FACTOR IN FRISCO CONVENTION

A Battlie Royal Is Looked For, Bryan One Big Delegate

Washington, May 29.—Newspaper men nfield taking note and others here checking up are agreed that up to date largely through officeholding delegates Mr. Wilson seems to have control of the San Francisco convention. The latest tabulation shows that the President can count on 792 votes from the total of 1,092 delegates. If he can hold that many he can choose the candidate and launch him on a League of Nations platform. Administration leaders are reported to concede only 300 delegates to Bryan and declare that their hair is turning gray over the hopelessness of healing divisions among the rest. These latter are only united on one thing—opposition to Wilson and the League of Nations. Their bitterness fore-shadows revolt.

Authorities agree that the battle at San Francisco will be a fight to the death. Mr. Bryan is fully expected to begin hostilities against the adoption of the league plank demanded by the President as soon as the convention opens. It is in such a scrap that Mr. Bryan is at his best—there will be no one at the convention in the same class with him. It will take a strong administration guard to save the machine from smithereens and some of the guard—Marshall, for instance are beginning to buck rocks at it. They openly refuse to regard support of the league as the test of party fealty.

Knowing what's coming if they win or lose in the convention the faction leaders are maneuvering for party control afterward, for most of them fear that the best they can hope for after November is control of its organization, to be patched up for 1924. They figure that altho the administration forces appear to be united, so many of them are postmasters and other officeholders that at the very first sign of defeat in the convention they will realign themselves very quickly with an eye to the future.

END WILSON AUTOCRACY, TOO MUCH LIKE KAISER

Washington, May 29.—Senator France, Republican, Maryland, urged in the Senate today that Congress stay in session and "mercilessly strip from the executive every one of those enormous powers which were conferred for the period of the war."

"By denying peace for which the representatives of the people have declared," said Senator France, "the President in effect arrogates to himself in violation of the constitution the power to declare war."

It was the Kaiser's power to make war which none made him an emperor instead of a president, the senator continued, adding that President Wilson had assumed a like authority.

AUDIENCE CHEERS AS PYTHON CRUSHES GIRL

Geneva, May 29.—Applause from a large audience resounded in the little theater at Serboud, near here, today, while a gigantic python slowly crushed its trainer to death.

The trainer, a Hungarian girl, peril and shrieked for help as the coils of the serpent closed about her, but the audience believed her cries were part of the entertainment and cheered loudly.

Fraulein Ciro's manager rushed on the stage and shot the snake, but not until the young woman was beyond help. It was not until after the performance was over that the people were apprised of the fact they had witnessed a gruesome tragedy.

KILLED TIMBER WOLF WITH HIS TEETH

Here is a story that was grimly enacted in real life in a wild, wooded section of Ontario early in the past winter. How the ancient Spartans who immortalized the youth who without an outcry permitted a fox concealed beneath his clothing to tear his vitals until it had killed him would have delighted in this sinewy modern hero.

Edward Willet with his wife and child were returning in a wagon from Port Burwell when a pack of hungry, ferocious timber wolves emerged from the woods and came yelping after them. Placing his wife and child high up on the seat of the wagon where he thought they would be safe, Willet tied his team to a tree, seized his ax and went for the wolves, by this time close upon him.

After circling about the wagon once or twice two of the bolder members of the pack attacked him. With a single dexterous blow of the ax the woodsman clove the skull of the first and stretched it out limp and lifeless on the ground. A second blow similarly put an end to the other.

The cowardly animals circled about him, apparently seeking to attack him from some unguarded quarter. The alert woodsman, however, kept his head and whenever a wolf came near enough, his trusty ax, glittering in the light of the moon, brought the beast down, a quivering, lifeless heap on the snow.

There is no doubt that Willet would have killed the last wolf or driven him off without himself suffering a single scratch if the handle of his ax had not unfortunately broken and hurled the blade a considerable distance away where he could not reach it.

As if understanding the man's defenseless condition, the leader of the pack, the only wolf that remained in a condition to fight, now hurled itself upon him and sank its teeth into his shoulder. Willet had nothing to fight with but his hands and his teeth but he grimly made use of them to the best possible advantage. Manoeuvring until he got the wolf into a favorable position, he seized its throat with his teeth and closed them with a vise-like grip. He held on grimly, hitting in deeper and deeper, hoping to sever the brute's windpipe. At last, after this desperate struggle had continued for a quarter of an hour, the wolf's grip weakened perceptibly and within a short time it fell to the ground where it died shortly. Its throat having been cut by the woodsman's sharp, strong teeth.

YEARLING BOAR SELLS FOR SUM OF $15,000

Lexington, Ky., May 29.—Fifteen thousand dollars, declared to be the highest price ever given for a boar of his age, was paid by McKee Brothers, of Forest Hill Farm, Woodford County, for a yearling Duroc boar sired by Great Orion Sensation, grand champion of the National Swine Show in 1919, it was announced today. The animal was bought from Frank Holsinger, Moherly, Mo. The boar, which arrived at the farm Friday, has been named McKee's Orion Sensation. McKee Brothers today sold a herd boar, Colonel Giant Defender, for $10,000 to a South Carolina man.

WALKING BLINDFOLDED.

In an experiment at Knoxville, Tenn., more than 50 men, women and children were blindfolded and instructed to walk straight ahead in an open field. In each case a practically perfect circle was described, its diameter in the case of adults approximating 100 paces and in the case of children 20 paces. It was found that the blindfolded pedestrians would sometimes describe a right-hand circle and sometimes a left-hand one. The less the thought given to the walking, the less the effort to control it, apparently, the more perfect the circle described. This experiment evidently upsets the old popular notions that when blindfolded one walks in a circle because his legs are of uneven length or because he is right-handed.

SAN FRANCISCO GETS JAVA SUGAR SHIPMENT

San Francisco, May 28.—Two thousand tons of white sugar arrived here today from Java, the first shipment of its kind in a number of years, according to shipping men. Canniers are said to be contracting for the Java sugar because of the scarcity of other varieties.

Why a Majority of the Smaller Cars Come on Goodyear Tires

Last year more cars using 30x3-, 30x3½-, or 31x4-inch tires were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

This is plainly a result of the high relative value produced in these tires for the smaller cars by Goodyear's enormous resources and scrupulous care.

They represent the same intense endeavor to supply utmost satisfaction in tires that has laid the basis for the marked preference which exists everywhere for Goodyear Tires in the larger sizes.

This real Goodyear value in tires is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at our nearest Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

GOOD YEAR

AGE SIXTY-EIGHT GAINS 10 POUNDS

Feels He Ows It To His Neighbors and Public To Tell What Tanlac Did

"Tanlac has been such a great help to me that I told my wife I was coming down here and tell you about it."

Mr. James W. Caswell, when he called at Taylor-Isaacs drug store in Louisville, Kentucky, the other day.

Mr. Caswell, who lives at 324 West Brandies street, Louisville, has been employed by Mengel Brothers & Co., for the past fifteen years and is highly respected by all who know him.

"Why, do you know," added Mr. Caswell, "I have actually gained ten pounds in the past thirty days. This strikes me as being remarkable, especially for one of my age as I am now sixty-eight, and I feel that I owe it to my neighbors and the people generally to state publicly what Tanlac has done for me."

"For several months previous to taking Tanlac I was in a badly run-down condition, my bones ached, I felt weak and tired all the time, and my nerves were so unsteady that I could hardly drink my coffee without spilling it out of the cup. I actually dreaded to go to bed, for I would just fidget and squirm around and found it next to impossible for me to get to sleep, and I always got up with that awful tired feeling. I had no appetite and suffered a great deal from a sour upset stomach. I would float up so bad at times that I could hardly fasten my trousers around my waist. I never felt like work and seemed to be steadily going down hill all the time."

"But it didn't take Tanlac long to rid me of those miserable feelings and set me right again. By the time my first bottle was gone I was feeling like a different man. My appetite is so ravenous that meal time comes too slow for me now and I can eat what I want and all I want without feeling a touch of indigestion. My nerves have steadied down and for the first time in a long while I am able to sleep soundly. Really my nerves are so steady as when I was a boy and I am feeling as well as I ever have in my life. Tanlac is certainly an unusually fine medicine, and to do my part in letting the people know about it."

Tanlac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean, in Horse Branch by Olton Drug Co., in Rockport by James Browning, in Cromwell by Wallace & Porter, in Beaver Dam by R. T. Taylor, Jr., and in McHenry, by S. J. Tichenor.—Advertisement.

LIQUID HYDROGEN RUNS CAR

It is claimed that Dr. Pnsticel, a noted Italian chemist, has perfected a process for cheaply liquefying hydrogen for the purpose of using it in driving autos, railroad locomotives, seagoing vessels, etc., as well as internal combustion motors generally. A gallon is sufficient to propel an auto 250 miles. Of course, like other things of this sort, we shall want to see this demonstrated before accepting it as promising any relief from gasoline prices.

President Receives Diplomats.

For about eight months President Wilson was unable, on account of illness, to accept the credentials of ambassadors and envoys from foreign countries who had been newly appointed, but now he is beginning to receive them again—one or two at a time in the order in which they reached Washington. Only two cabinet meetings have been held since he was taken sick. It was planned that he should go to Wood's Hole, Mass., for the summer, but this idea was rejected after the secret service men surveyed the place. It is understood that the president will stay at Washington, or take short trips on the presidential yacht Mayflower, in which an elevator is being installed for his use. He wants to keep in close touch with politics and especially to keep a hold on the San Francisco convention, it is said.

AUTO PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION

Canada is now the second nation in the world in the manufacture of automobiles, number of cars owned the per capita distribution.

The United States takes first rank, with Great Britain second.

Figures compiled by the Motor Bus and Motorize the Farm Bureau of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company show that one person in every fifteen in the United States owns an automobile, while one in every 23 is the percentage in Canada. In Great Britain but one person in every 268 owns a car. The percentage in France is one to 102, one to 684 in Germany, one to 1,000 in Italy, one to 2,700 in Austria and one to 5,300 in Russia.

The total number of cars registered in this country is approximately 7,100,000, in the Dominion 350,000, and in England 180,000. Canada showed increased registration in 1919 of 13 per cent. Ontario was the banner province, with a registration of 127,860 passenger cars and 11,428 trucks. Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba and Quebec rank in the order named.

Canada employs 15,000 workers in the automobile industry, which represents an investment of $50,000,000. In 1919, 94,000 automobiles were manufactured in the Dominion, with a total sales for the year approximately $100,000,000. The annual wages of persons in the industry totals $15,000,000.

It is estimated that the total Canadian production of automobiles in 1920 will be increased 35 per cent over 1919.

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS MEET

The annual convention in Washington of the Southern Baptists was enthusiastic and inspiring. As an indication of its success the campaign committee reported that having undertaken to raise $75,000,000 for evangelism, nearly $93,000,000 had been subscribed. The convention refused to indorse a modification of the prohibition amendment to permit beer and light wines. On the contrary resolutions were passed that both the Democratic and Republican parties nominate only men who are definitely committed to dry policies. Delegates from the Northern Baptist convention were received, and closer union between the two societies urged. One of the northern delegates declared that the sum of $200,000,000 being raised by that body for the missionary and benevolent program would prove inadequate.

He is about as welcome as the Hessians who came over during the Revolution and who are credited with having introduced the fly to this country. Stations have been established in Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Kansas for making a study of the pest.

FRIDAY, JUNE 4

ANNOUNCEMENT

"We are authorized to announce the candidacy of John P. Haswell, Jr., of Breckenridge County, for Congress from the Fourth Congressional District, subject to the action of the Republican party."

We think that Uncle Sam should remove "In God We Trust" from the silver dollar and substitute therefor
"Good for 30 Cents in Trade."

Looks to a disinterested person as though the Socialists would have nominated some convict as their candidate for president, whose prison term would expire about March the 4th next.

If Eugene V. Debs, whom the Socialists nominated for President, and who is serving a long term in the A-lanta Prison, is elected, will the seat of government be moved to Atlanta, or will the penitentiary be moved to the Whitehouse at the National Capital?

Chairman Cummings, so news items state, has submitted his "keynote speech" to Woodrow, and HE approved it. Cummings also stated that his views on the peace treaty coincided with the President's. Everybody knew that he, Cummings had no views other than those of Wilson, and that he would never attempt to deliver a keynote speech to the Democratic Convention, without first having it censored and O. K'd by the "Alpha and Omega" of Democratic thought and action.

By the opinion rendered Tuesday, in Federal Court, by Judge Walter Evans, Kentucky is to lose the benefits to her highways, of the special tax of 50 cents per gallon on all whiskey held in bonded warehouses the total of which was estimated to be 30,000,000 gallons and the taxes accruing thereon would have amounted to $15,000,000. The act under which the tax was to have been collected is known as the Vance Act, and was passed by the last Legislature.
The Federal Court in annulling this act declares it to be unconstitutional.

The Wilsonian ways are just like the weather; America is bound to take both just as they come. Nothing that man, or men, can do will change either. Wilhelm the Hohenz-ollern, never, in all his life, made his more complete and autocratic one-man rule than does President Wilson try to make his, and the worst of it is, he, in a measure, succeeds. The United States is technically at war with Germany today, simply because owing to the vote of the minority in our National Congress. And that vote cast, not as the majority of the minority really desires, but only as Woodrow Wilson instructs and demands that they do. When it is seen that his grip upon federal patronage is no longer worth playing for, and that one may be accounted a good and loyal Democrat without wagging at the snap of HIS fingers, then, Democrats, members of the House and Senate, on the the League of Nations and the peace resolutions questions will leave him like rats escaping from a sinking ship. Wilson seems to deem himself infallible and therefore no open paths lead to his throne, advice is not wanted, asked or taken. In our opinion he has not the least conception of the ideas and opinion he is creating in the World's mind of himself. His was the rarest of the golden, but now a lost opportunity. Once before a man without authority offered up a burnt offering and as a result lost his kingdom and leadership. It will ever be thus.

SEDITION BILLS VETOED

out his veto snickernee and used it on two bills passed by the legislature. One would have outlawed the the court to be dangerous to the republic. The other was designed to curb sedition and destructive socialism.

The above announcement was re-surprise to many, yet it was what might naturally be expected, for that young man has been making frequent trips down in this part of the country for some time. He is at present and sides possessing a charming person-

As soon as Mr. Leach's school closes, which will be next week, the young couple will visit his old home in Kentucky, and other places in the fall, to Oklahoma, where Prof. Leach has accepted the position of Principal of the Dilworth School.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

We have one thing to be thankful for, that is the fact that none of that counterfeit gang have passed any of those bogus $50.00 bills on us.

We shore are mighty proud that Miss Cox has come home, as we could not keep up with our work much longer, and stay up nights to watch

If Eck Rial, the drayman, turns over a fair share of the freight he collects, to the Railroad Co., and the railroad workmen find it out, we'll bet two bits they strike inside of ten days for more wages.

Every now and then we see head lines in the papers about drillers striking gas pockets, when this town has any number of walking gas bags, and but little mention is ever made about them in the papers.

A lassie in New Jersey sued in the sum of $50,000.00 for the loss of a man's love, and was awarded six cents by the jury. The trial jury must have been made up of married women of several years duration.

We will bet a gallon of the first liquor legally made and sold, against a soda pop, that Bob Walker, run some boy's trot line Saturday afternoon, as we saw him sneaking up the alley back of the office, with a string of catfish and perch larger than Walker was ever known to catch.

Miss Hula King, who owns an auto, has been advertising for a crank. We don't see the whyforeness or the necessity of the ad, as thick as they are in this burg. For instance she might call on John Wilson, J. I.
Goodman, Amos Carson, or a score of others we could think of who ought to fill the bill admirably.

Albert Rial says the only satisfaction he could get out of suing us for what we said about the tops of his popcorn bags would simply be a judgment for damages, as we are law-proof, and nothing could be collected, and that his only method would be to slip up behind us and hat the H— outen us with a lead pipe. Said he didn't see no other way to get satisfaction.

Ernest Eirkhead is pretending to raise some sort of a crop near town.
He went out to the farm the first of last week and stayed only a short time, when he drove the pony back to town to get his wife's parasol and rocking chair and a treatise on "How to Farm by Proxy." Mrs.
Eirkhead says all three implements showed signs of much and constant use when Ernest came home Saturday evening.

Albert Rial says he noticed where high-class, educated 'bridegrooms were fetching as much as $15,000 in India, and that he is going to try to get up a carload like Fred Robertson, Harold Holbrook, Bat Nall, Jim Gillespie, Harve Sheffield and this fellow Berry (don't know what his first name is, but anyhow it's a man who don't talk so awful much) and ship them down about Calcutta for sons-in-law for those Indians. Rial says he thinks that he ought to realize about $96.00 per dozen, gross for that bunch, and if his net profit amounts to as much as $1.30 each, it will be just about like running his popping outfit a couple of days.

GIVE TO THE PEOPLE OF OHIO COUNTY THE GREATEST SHOW ON THE SCREEN

Mary Pickford

—IN—

"POLLYANNA"

"Oh be glad!"

The Secret Of Happiness

Spreading the wonderful gospel of everlasting gladness

MARY PICKFORD

in her latest picture "POLLYANNA"

is bringing joy and new hope to millions. As you watch her the "glad" feeling creeps through your veins and into your heart and lo! you find yourself loving even your enemies and trying to do good by them.

This production is from Eleanor H. Porter's Novel "Pollyanna" Published by the Page Company Screen Adaptation by Frances Marion Photographed by Charles Rosher

Critics everywhere assert that "Pollyanna" is one of the greatest picture plays ever filmed. The philosophy upon which the story is based constitutes a theme, which at the present time has an unusually wide application. Discontent, dissatisfaction, unrest is pictured upon almost every countenance and is stirring almost every breast. Few are looking upon the bright side, dispensing joy and gladness, able to realize that if things are bad they could be worse.

Pollyanna, the Glad Girl, plays the Glad game in such an honest way as to prove to every one if he is not happy it's clearly his own fault.

If you think you have a lot to be sad about, believe that old man gloom has chased joy out of your life forever, if you are bowed down under a heavy load of business responsibilities that have a tendency to pessimize your good nature, if misfortune has tried to make a pal of you, then see "Pollyanna."

There is no better tonic for those who have been the victims of bad luck and as a result are down hearted than this remarkable play. It carries the message of good cheer to one and all.

Play the Glad game all through life is the philosophy that Pollyanna's invalid father taught her and she applied it to every circumstance, and if you see this splendid screen play she will carry her message to you.

When you leave the theater you will feel refreshed, you will have new vigor and vim with which to tackle the problems necessary for you to work out.

It is to be hoped that every boy and girl in Ohio County may see this picture. Money refunded to any parent who brings his children and is not better pleased than in any money he ever spent in their education and entertainment.

All ministers, teachers, parents and guardians are urged to come and bring with them any for whom they are in any way responsible.

This show is being put on two days so that every one may have an opportunity to be benefitted.

IDEAL THEATER

Admission: Children 20 Cents, Adults 40 cents.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Honey and nut sandwiches are very good. Mix the honey with pecan meats or almonds minced, and make into sandwiches with small baking-powder biscuits.

For a change, try honey and cream-cheese sandwiches. Mix honey with cream cheese and use as filling for bread or baking-powder biscuit sandwiches. Chopped nut may be added to the honey and cheese if desired.

Make over only things that are needed and suited for immediate use. This involves planning the wardrobe, and making a careful selection of the things it should contain. A made-over dress that does not harmonize with the coat and hat that must be worn with it, represents a sad bit of misdirected energy.

Convert Brush Into Pasture

There are many hundreds of thousands of acres of land grown up in brush that should be in permanent pasture. Most farms all over the country have some such acres. With labor as high as it is at present, many farmers figure that they can not afford to clear brush land for pasture but the United States Department of Agriculture points out that the labor employed on practically any farm can be utilized to clear from one to a few acres of brush land every year at times when regular farm work can not be done. The brush can be cleared away at any time, of course, and after it is off the ground may be plowed at intervals when the tilled fields are too wet for plowing. Every acre of land cleared and put in permanent pasture means an investment that will pay dividends through a lifetime. The kinds of grass to sow vary with the locality. The Department of Agriculture has conducted extensive investigations to determine the best methods of making permanent pastures in the various sections of the country.

Kind Of Poultry Best On The General Farm

The hen, first and last, is the main dependence for increasing the supply of white meat and eggs on a farm, but she requires the aid of turkeys, guineas, geese, and ducks just as, on a dairy farm, the cow requires the aid of pigs, sheep, and goats. The setting of the standard at 100 hens per farm is safe, but no such arbitrary standard can be set for the other kinds of poultry, say the poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The small farm, with grain fields of neighboring farms in proximity to the barn and dooryard, would, perhaps, be better without turkeys. The farm through which no streams run and which has no large pond would perhaps be better without ducks. But the circumscribed farm on which turkeys would be a disadvantage may be well supplied with streams and ponds so that ducks would be unusually profitable, and the farm that has no streams and ponds may have large range for turkeys. Each farm family will have to determine for itself what poultry can be profitably kept in addition to 100 hens, bearing in mind always that an adequate number should be kept of all the kinds for which free range can be found.

Fowls for breeding purposes should be strong, healthy, vigorous birds. The comb, face and wattles should be of a bright-red color, eyes bright and fairly prominent, head comparatively broad and short and not long or crow-shaped, legs set well apart and straight, plumage clean and smooth.

Two Can Co-operate

Co-operation does not necessarily mean a great many people pooling their interests. That two farmers can co-operate in the selling game is shown in the following article written for the Southern Agriculturist by W. J. Lane, of Larue County, Ky.

Reading the letters of marketable experiences leads me to believe that we farmers do not put thought enough in our selling problems. When Mr. Farmer realizes that he alone can correct the evils of marketing, then we see progressive plans put to use to market the products

We are too prone to fuss at the buyers instead of fussing at ourselves.

We get a bunch of hogs ready for the market and sell them to the local buyer. As a rule, he is a nice fellow, honest, and a good citizen, but he is engaged in a useless occupation if we farmers were using good business judgment. This buyer will tell you that co-operation is all right, but that "farmers won't stick together." He is too smart to say, "Farmers haven't got business sense enough to sell co-operatively." Sad to say, you can find apparently sensible farmers who help him spread this propaganda, that "farmers won't stick." Yet they have been "stealing" to thresh their wheat and in silo-filling, corn shredding etc. These are jobs they can't do by themselves, but they can give away 10 per cent of their earnings without the help of anyone except the local shipper. My observation has been that the fellow that talked such talk as "farmers won't stick," was usually the first "bird" to "fly the coop" if a marketing agreement was made.

I know a couple of farmers who shipped one car of hogs together last year and they were weighed at the loading point, that they might get an idea of the savings in shipping together. They made $288 on this one car. Two other farmers made $220 on one car of small cattle.

Why not try it? Go over and see Bill, he would be glad to put in his forty-three hogs. Sam has twenty-eight; he also would jump at the chance to "go in together" and ship. You have twenty-one and your son Charles has ten. This will make a nice load. The commission men will be glad to see you, and they will give you a safe bill showing the weight of each lot and figure out the expense proportionately, and when you get home with the check you can leave the sale bill at the bank and each fellow can see just what his hogs brought and his part of the expense. You can mark each lot if you like or you can partition the car, putting each lot in separate pens. My neighbors marked one car by putting a hog flag in the right ear of one lot and in the left ear of the other lot. When you have tried this and find how simple it is to co-operate, you will be glad to do as I have done, tell your neighbors about how you and your son and Sam and Bill saved money by shipping together.

Eggs from 'stolen' nests should not be marketed; they are of unknown age and quality and should be used at home.

Market white-shelled and brown-shelled eggs in separate packages. Eggs irregular in shape, those which are unusually long or thin-shelled, or which have shells otherwise defective, should be kept by the producer for home use, so that breakage in transit may be reduced as much as possible.

How It Works

The State Legislature is in session. Many bills have been proposed; many new laws are to be made.

Business men are organized and have capital. Whenever a bill comes up that in any way affects business representatives of these men work for that bill or oppose it, as they wish.

And your law makers are duly impressed.

Labor is organized. Its representatives are on hand. If there is a bill that is in any way injurious to labor will endure no injustice. If labor wishes the enactment of a new law it says so, and says so emphatically.

And your law makers are duly impressed.

When business or labor speaks law makers see more than the few men speaking—they look at the vast organization behind these representatives.

And the farmer—well he is not there during the law-making. He is at home. This is the reason why farming interests do not cut a larger figure in our legislative halls.

THE REMEDY—Organization and Capital.

The Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation is the organization.

Capital upon which to work it will have if you and your friends join your local County Bureau.

And make no mistake, friend, the farmer will never come into his own until there is organization and capital with which to work.

ALL A DREAM? CAN'T BE DONE? Listen to what one State did more than a year ago:

Consider Illinois. A Legislative Committee was maintained at the State Capital which saw to it that the farmers got a square deal from the legislature.

They succeeded in passing every bill which they approved and they likewise succeeded in killing every bill to which they objected.

This is what your own Kentucky Farm Bureau will do if you furnish them the organization and the means with which to do it.

Is there any good reason why you should not join your County Bureau today?

All required is for you to sign up and pay your yearly dues.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. NATIONAL CATHOLIC SHRINE

A national shrine of the Immaculate Conception is to be raised at a cost of $5,000,000 on the grounds of the Catholic university at Washington. A field mass was celebrated and the site of the shrine was blessed by Archbishop Bonzano, apostolic delegate to the United States. In the presence of a large assemblage, many of whom had come from distant points. The style of the new building will be similar to that of many of the famous cathedrals of Europe. There will be no pews to distract from the interior view. A vast dome 225 feet high will be surmounted by a cross, and there will be a campanile or bell tower 385 feet high. Beneath the sanctuary will be a crypt capable of accommodating 1200 worshippers, the first structure of its kind in the United States.

Booze Is Not a Good Cure.

(From the Ames Iowa Intelligencer.) When a man comes to you all doubled up with pain and declares he will die in your presence unless you procure him a drink of whiskey, send him to a doctor or else give him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. There is a mistaken notion among a whole lot of people that booze is the best remedy for colic and stomach ache.

PROGRESSIVE LEGISLATION

Washington, May 21—Progressive legislation by which the Government no longer issues patents for private ownership of public domain consisting oil and other valuable minerals but leases them with a generous income to the United States treasury has been enacted by the present Republican Congress.

This is considered not only a long step forward in the development of the remaining public lands of the country, but a revolutionary legal departure which has been asked by those of progressive tendency for more than a decade. Under it the United States will no longer give away its natural resources.

Necessity for conservation of the oil supply had long been apparent. It is only necessary to indicate the fact that 3,500,000 automobiles use it every day in the United States. It is used more and more in engineering. Both the British and American navies use it exclusively. It is estimated that there remains of petroleum in the ground in this country something like 7,704,000,000 barrels. At last year's rate of production but twenty-nine years will be required to exhaust the supply.

SENATE BILL TO PREVENT RAIL STRIKES REPORTED

Washington, May 23—Favorable report was ordered today by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee on the Polidexter bill designed to prevent interruption of transportation by strikes of railroad employees.

The committee amended the measure by attaching provisions similar to the anti-strike clauses eliminated from the railroad reorganization bill after labor leaders had made strong protests. Action on the Polidexter bill is not expected until Congress reconvenes after the national conventions.

The bill as reported would make a felony of any proven intent to obstruct or prevent the movement of commodities in interstate commerce by persuading persons to quit work or by destroying property and would provide for punishment of persons who through violence or threats prevent employees from continuing work.

The anti-strike provision of the railroad bill as added to the Polidexter measure would prohibit two or more persons from conspiring or bringing about a strike that would tie up interstate commerce.

SHOE SOLES FROM AUTO TIRES

At Easton, Md., the pupils of colored schools for vocational training have made a success of half-shape shoes with pieces of old automobile tires in place of leather. Officials who inspected the work stated that the finished job made a very presentable appearance.

QUEER CUSTOMS OF THE CHINESE

A Child's First Birthday Is Made Occasion Of Great Festivities.

When a new baby arrives in China it is the custom for the mother's parents to supply it with several outfits of clothing. If the baby's maternal grandparents are wealthy it is not unusual for them to furnish its clothes until it is five or ten years old.

Though customs vary in different provinces, just as dialects do, it is a common thing when the child is three days old for the parents to present boiled eggs, dyed red, to relatives, friends and neighbors, thereby signifying that they hope that their children will be as numerous as the eggs. It is extremely doubtful whether anyone ever really hoards any such thing for frequently the number of eggs given away totals 2000 or more.

For the baby's bath, two tubs of water are made ready, one for its body, and one for its head. Dragon's eyes and peanuts are thrown into the water in both tubs, this being supposed to insure long life and success in all undertakings of the child's adult life. It is customary for relatives to drop money liberally into the water.

In order to ward off evil spirits and prevent them from interfering with the child's growth and development a little locket, made of gold, silver and jade and bearing the inscription "Long life and riches," is put on its wrist or about its neck soon after birth, to lock up its life securely. In many instances the money for this locket is solicited from neighbors. This is almost invariably the rule if the parents have lost other children.

This locket is usually worn until the age of 20 or 30 years and not infrequently it is never taken off. It is commonly believed that taking off the locket will result in death but this belief has never been put to the test as Chinamen are too superstitious to risk such matters.

The left ear of a boy baby is preferred for an ear-ring and he is otherwise treated as a girl. Girl babies are dressed as boys and sometimes they continue so disguised until they are 12 or more years old. A superstition belief that evil spirits may be deceived in this way is back of this custom. Nevertheless, it is frequently of considerable advantage to girls, as it gives them greater freedom and favors normal development.

A month after the child's birth its parents give what is called the "shaving feast." On this eventful occasion the barber comes and shaves off all of its hair except a small tuft on the fore part of the head.

At length when the little one is old enough to play with toys the fond parents place before it on a table, a sword, a book, a pen, medicine, needles, boats, etc., and allow it to take up whatever appeals to it most. The idea is that the youngster's choice betokens the occupation or business it will follow when it grows to maturity; if it chooses a pen, the supposition is that it will be a writer; if a book, it will be a scholar, and so on. If the symbol chosen happens to be in line with the parents' ambitions for the child they are delighted but if it chooses a symbol of a calling or trade that is displeasing they will insist that there is nothing in the test anyway.

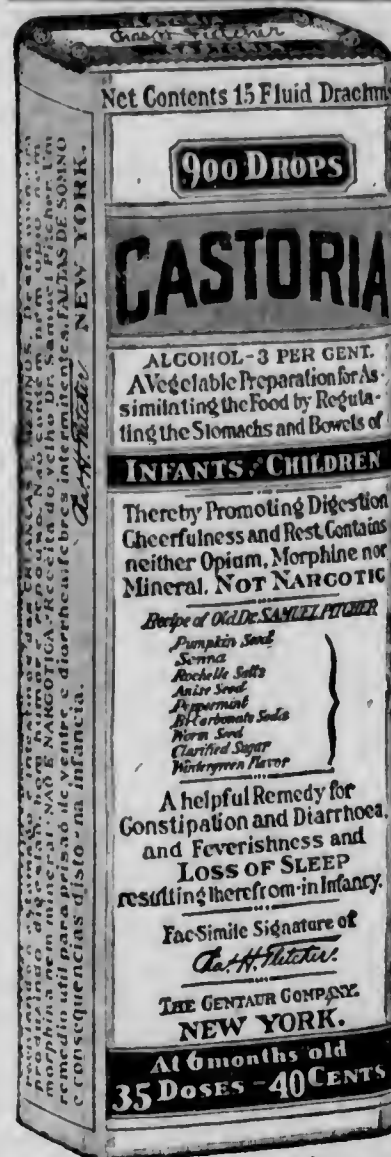

If the child at any time becomes gravely ill its mother hastens to the temple and solemnly promises the gods to consecrate its life to their service if they will intervene to save its life. Thus it often happens that young Chinamen become monks very much against their will.

The child's first birthday is made the occasion of great festivities. Often great quantities of "mien" (noodles) are prepared and sent about to all the relatives and friends. Succeeding birthdays are scarcely noticed until the 10th. Then a great celebration is held.

A regular morning operation of the bowels puts you in fine shape for the day's work. If you miss it you feel uncomfortable and cannot put vim into your movements. For all bowel irregularities HERBINE is the remedy. It purifies, strengthens and regulates. Price 60c. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

A HUGE AMERICAN RUBBER PLANTATION

The fascination which the strange lands of the Far East have held for the average American is taking on a more tangible form, now that travel and business are bringing Asia and the United States into closer contact.

No article of commerce is doing more to bring this country into close touch with the mystic East than rubber. The rapid rise to supremacy in the production of crude rubber of the islands of the Indian Ocean, combined with the fact that America consumes nearly three-quarters of all the rubber grown there, has given many Americans an opportunity to peep behind the scenes and become acquainted with the lands and peoples of that distant quarter of the globe.

Although the whole equatorial belt in that section is dotted with rubber plantations, representing a capital investment of nearly half a billion dollars, the thoughts of Americans naturally center on Sumatra, where one of America's greatest corporations has established a plantation so vast in area and so highly developed that it stands out as the greatest single plantation in the world. This is the plantation of the United States Rubber Company, comprising seventy square miles of growing trees, an enterprise marked throughout by a magnitude and an efficiency worthy of the best American traditions.

By producing its own rubber the company is in a position to establish a uniformity in its manufactured product, especially United States tires, such as rubber manufacturers have long craved.

INTERNATIONAL SECRET SERVICE ORGANIZED BY U. S.

Paris, May 25—Amazing disclosures of the existence of an international secret and world-wide ramifications, organized by the United States, France, Britain and Italy to combat alleged Bolshevik plots to sovietize the world, were revealed today when it was learned that hundreds of arrests have been made in France during the last two weeks, including practically every prominent radical agitator.

The French police, in making these arrests, are said to have been acting on instructions obtained by international secret agents who have in some cases actually held important posts in the soviet government and therefore know the inner workings of the Leninist system. Among these agents are Americans, Frenchmen, Englishmen, Spaniards and Danes.

The founding of the international secret service is believed to have been broached by the secret service chief of the United States Department of Justice, following admission by American radicals that there is a plot afoot to sovietize the world.

There are accumulating signs that sovietism is the great bogey of the allied powers, who are frankly afraid of the spread of Lenin's sway eastward and westward. An alliance between Russia, Germany and Japan is counted among the probabilities that might grow out of such a spread of bolshevism. The strength of the Moscow government is at last realized by England, who, frightened by the invasion of Persia, is foreseeing the eventual loss of Turkey, Mesopotamia and even India, unless the allies are prepared to back up the British military operations against the Soviets.

BARUCH NOT TO BE REPORTED TO FRIEND

Mason Says He Prefers Palmer Successor Prosecute.

Washington, June 2.—D. M. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board, wrote to Representative Mason, Republican, Illinois, today, asking that he submit at once to Congress and the attorney general the evidence which prompted him to charge in the House recently that Mr. Baruch had "stolen $50,000,000 from the government in copper alone."

Mr. Baruch further demanded that he be "immediately brought to the bar of justice and condemned to punishment if found guilty and exonerated if innocent from the infamous and malicious charge you make against me."

Mr. Mason in a letter of reply made public tonight, said that since looking over his previous statement he would amend it to say that "you and your associates stole $200,000,000 in copper alone." He added that the matter on which he based his charges already was before Congress in connection with the investigation of war expenditures.

"You certainly do not expect me to present this matter to your particular friend, Mr. Palmer, attorney general," Mr. Mason said, and added, "I shall, if I live, ask the attorney general of the United States after March 4, 1921, to proceed civilly and criminally against you and your associates."

Declaring that Mr. Baruch, when head of the War Industries Board, had appointed a co-operative committee on copper with John D. Ryan, of New York, as chairman, and president and owners of copper-producing plants in the United States as members, Mr. Mason charged this committee had allowed copper producers to buy at one price and sell at another. He also charged this committee after the war permitted 100,000,000 pounds of copper which the government, he said, purchased at 23 cents a pound, to be sold back to the producers at 15 cents a pound.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Cinire.)

The coat may not make the man but it goes a long way toward making the woman.

I pity the poor women. Their low-necked chest exposure has become so common that the coarsest minded men no longer pay any attention to it.

I visited Frank Fehr's brewery last week. I found the same old visitors, free bar, the same old quart stein, the same old man serving the brew, but such brew!

I am drawing no damaging comparisons, but I can't withhold commendation of the good sense exercised by Ed Barrass in declining a nine days' ginger ale debauch in an isolated fishing camp.

Country folks visiting the city indulge much needless embarrassment in wondering what the city people think of their dress and appearance, when in fact they do not think of them at all. Not because they are country people but because people accustomed to mixing with the multitude give no more thought to individual strangers than they give to the individual stones in the buildings along the streets.

If you would know just how the public regards you, select a half dozen of your most intimate friends, size up the average esteem in which they are held, and you may feel perfectly assured that you are rated at just about their rating. Not that the world rates you solely by your associates, but that your intimate associates measure in a general way the quality of your culture, the standard of your morals and the limit of your intelligence.

I sat in a box, a few nights ago, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and looked over the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, in State Encampment. Of that vast army, with whose march the earth trembled in the dark days of the sixties, only a few front rows of bent and grizzled warriors remained. I was pleased to note among those honored few, three Ohio Countians, Rev. H. C. Truman, John M. Bishop and Frank Kissinger.

If you have not seen Cave Hill cemetery visit it on your next coming to Louisville. It is the show place of the Metropolis. This magnificent city of the dead is said to be one of four or five of the most splendid cemeteries of American cities. This walled enclosure of six hundred acres of sepulchers more than a half million human bodies—the dead city outnumbering the living one. Not for area, nor for the number of graves, is Cave Hill celebrated, but for its landscape beauty and adorning monuments. The surface is broken into a hundred low hills and flower beds and shrubs and trees, brought from the ends of the earth and kept with matchless care, indulge the eye with pleasing beauty. Come see it.

After several years of day and night devotion to newspaper work, I am taking a little play time. Quitting the business? Not on your daggered type. I am married to it. As the Mormons would say, "Sealed to it for time and eternity." But for a season I shall live among people, rather than with magazines, newspapers and typewriters, but for a season only. It gratifies my native cruelty to indulge my opinions, comments and conjectures on a helpless reading public. Forego such a pleasing privilege? I'd sooner desert my native land or my corn cob pipe. Why, my stuff has such a punishing punch that other editors freely inflict it on their own readers by way of retaliating their real and fancied grievances. If I could rob myself, I would not rob my fellow members of the cult of such a consoling privilege.

Finding one's self is a worth-while accomplishment. Perhaps you did not know you were lost, but most of us are. While one is attempting to accomplish achievements above his fitness, he is lost. Finding one's self is to discover one's limitations, and to direct one's efforts accordingly. One who has really found himself is neither unduly moved by praise nor stung by criticism, and feels secure of his world, however narrowed its horizon.

"EATS" BOUGHT FOR SOLDIERS

The final report of the quarter-master-general shows that the American soldiers required large quantities of supplies during the war. Some interesting items are: Corn beef 114,000,000 pounds; salmon 202,000,000 pounds; beans 130,000,000 pounds; cigarettes, 5,500,000,000. Strange as it may seem to the doughboy, there were millions of pounds of beans left on hand at the close of the war.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA AUTO WHEEL SPEED

The unbelievable amount of punishment sustained by automobile tires in speed races when wheels are revolving at the rate of 25 times a second when the car is making 100 miles an hour, is not appreciated by the average racing fan.

A remarkable incident in the recent Los Angeles race brings this point out in a striking manner. Art Klein was leading the field on the 183rd mile, cleaving the air at 104 miles an hour. Suddenly his right rear wheel collapsed, the steel spokes being sheared off close to the rim. Rearing wildly, the car scrambled crazily about on the remains of the wheel, but the fully inflated Good-year cord tire, perfectly mounted, swept on down the track at terrific speed in the direction the car had been taking. When it finally came to a stop, it was found uninjured. This is the first time that such a freak performance, demonstrating the ruggedness of tires, has ever been witnessed during a race.
